DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1, 2, 6, 9, 10, and 14 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Allison et al.

Allison et al. shows a spray pump inspection apparatus comprising a vibration sensor 52 adjacent the spray pump and abnormality detection means which detects spraying abnormality of the spray pump on the basis of a low frequency signal as recited.

Regarding claim 2, it is well known to those of ordinary skill in the art that vibration analysis is conducted through Fourier analysis.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 3-5, 7, 8, 11-13, 15, and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Allison et al. in view of Desaulniers et al.

Desaulniers et al. teaches a spray pump comprising a sensor 19 in the form of a microphone to detect the sound of exhaust air to determine the operating state of the pump. It would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have used a microphone to detect spray sound of sprayed air as has already been taught by Desaulniers et al. to determine the operating state of the pump. The placement of the sensor as recited in claim 5 would have been a matter of design choice since such a modification would have involved a mere change in the placement of a component which is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art when the same function will be carried out regardless of the placement. The frequencies recited in claims 7 and 8 would also have been a matter of design choice.

Conclusion

5. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The patents to Baek, Erickson et al., and Kurachi are pertinent to Applicant's invention.
